Why do I need a backup solution for my customers' Microsoft 365 data?

There's a common misconception that Microsoft fully backs up Office 365 mailboxes and files as part of the subscription, but this is not the case.

- Microsoft doesn't provide native options to back up mailboxes and files – Microsoft is responsible for providing the necessary infrastructure and ensuring it all works, but it's the customer's responsibility to protect its Microsoft 365/Office 365 data.
- Microsoft cannot help with unexpected data loss or damage – Having a solid backup solution in place ensures that even if mailboxes or files disappear from the network or are rendered useless, the customer has access to a backed up copy, eliminating problems or repercussions that could arise from the missing data.
- Problems with accessing and searching email data – Without a single backup location for a company's mailboxes or OneDrive and SharePoint files, this data cannot be protected and stored centrally for easy access, searching and recovery.

That's why you need to back up your customers' Microsoft 365/Office 365 data.
